OUR STORY

CELEBRATING WHITE COUNTY'S

local spirit

Welcome to The Eagle Flyer – White County's newest digital shopper, where community pride and support for local businesses soar high!

At The Eagle Flyer, our journey is fueled by a heartfelt belief: we firmly stand behind the idea that supporting small, local businesses is not just a choice, but a responsibility we owe to our community. These businesses aren't just faceless entities; they're the heartbeat of White County, each one infused with the dreams, hard work, and dedication of our neighbors and friends.

Why do we advocate for shopping local? It's simple – when you support local businesses, you're investing in the prosperity of our entire community. These businesses are the backbone of our local economy, generating jobs, fostering innovation, and contributing to the unique character of our neighborhoods. It's the local diner where you grab your morning coffee, the boutique where you find that perfect gift, and the family-owned hardware store where you get expert advice and a friendly smile.

But it goes beyond transactions – it's about relationships. It's about knowing that the business owner you support is the same person who sponsors your child's little league team or donates to the school fundraiser. It's about recognizing that when we support local, we're not just fueling economic growth; we're strengthening the bonds that tie us together as a community.

With The Eagle Flyer, we aim to celebrate and showcase the incredible businesses that call White County home. From cozy cafes to bustling boutiques, from family-owned farms to innovative startups – our magazine is a testament to the diverse and vibrant entrepreneurial spirit of our county.

And here's the best part – we're not just here to promote businesses; we're here to empower them. That's why we offer a FREE directory listing in the back of our magazine for any business that wants to be a part of our community. It's our way of saying thank you for all that you do and providing a platform for your voices to be heard.

So, as we embark on this journey together, let's remember the power we hold as consumers. Let's choose to support local, to shop small, and to invest in the future of our community. Together, we can build a stronger, more resilient White County – one purchase, one business at a time.

Join us at The Eagle Flyer as we celebrate the spirit of White County and the remarkable individuals who make it shine. Together, let's soar to new heights!

STELLAR EXPLOSION 2024

BY THE EAGLE FLYER

Get ready to witness a cosmic event like no other – the explosive spectacle of T Coronae Borealis (T CrB)! In what promises to be a once-in-a-lifetime event, astronomers predict that this nearby star system will erupt in a dazzling nova explosion later this year, visible to the naked eye from Earth.

So, what exactly is T CrB, and why is its impending explosion causing such excitement among astronomers and gazers alike? Let's dive into the stellar drama unfolding in the constellation Corona Borealis.

T CrB is no ordinary star system – it's what astronomers call a "cataclysmic variable," a celestial duo comprising a red giant and a white dwarf locked in a gravitational dance. For decades, these stellar partners have engaged in a dramatic pas de deux, with the white dwarf voraciously consuming material ejected by its companion.

But the real show begins when the white dwarf reaches a critical mass, triggering a thermonuclear explosion known as a nova. This explosion, fueled by stellar cannibalism, unleashes a torrent of radiation that illuminates the night sky, turning T CrB into a beacon of celestial wonder.

ILLUSTRATION OF A NOVA - WHEN A DEAD STAR (WHITE DWARF) COLLIDES WITH A DYING STAR (RED GIANT).

And the best part? You don't need a telescope to witness this cosmic event. The explosion will be visible to the naked eye, shining as brightly as the North Star itself. For several days following the event, skywatchers will be treated to a celestial light show, with T CrB taking center stage in the heavens above.

But this isn't just any nova – it's a rare opportunity for astronomers to study the explosive behavior of cataclysmic variables up close. By observing T CrB's outburst, scientists hope to gain insights into the evolution of these enigmatic star systems and the role they play in shaping the cosmos.

So mark your calendars and keep your eyes on the skies – the cosmic fireworks of T Coronae Borealis are set to dazzle and delight, offering a glimpse into the awe-inspiring wonders of the universe. Don't miss your chance to witness this celestial spectacle unfold before your very eyes!

Robbie Wolfe, and Jersey Jon as they crisscross the country in pursuit of prized possessions from days gone by. With 25 seasons under its belt since its debut in 2010, the series has captivated audiences with its tales of remarkable finds and the thrill of the hunt.

Now, the production team behind "American Pickers" is on the lookout for collectors in Arkansas who are eager to showcase their treasures on the small screen. If you're a collector with a passion for preserving history, this is your chance to shine! Simply reach out to the production team by phone at 646-493-2184 or via email at AmericanPickers@cineflix.com to express your interest. Be sure to provide your full name, city and state, contact information, and a brief description of your collection.

It's important to note that only private collections will be considered for the series – no stores, malls, flea markets, museums, auctions, or other public businesses will be featured. This ensures that the spotlight remains squarely on the unique stories and artifacts of individual collectors.

As fans of the show may already know, co-host Frank Fritz is no longer part of the series following health issues. Despite this, the show continues its mission to uncover the hidden gems of America's past, and the team is excited to bring their quest for antiques to the great state of Arkansas.

So dust off those family heirlooms, unearth those attic treasures, and get ready for your close-up – "American Pickers" is coming to town, and Arkansas's antique aficionados are ready for their moment in the spotlight!
